FROM EVERY STAIN MADE

Tunes.—For ever with the Lord, 68; Song Book, 430. From every stain made clean,

From every stand made clean,
From every sin set free;
O blessed Lord, this is the gift
That Thou had promised me.
And pressing through the pase
Of failure, fault, and fear,
Before Thy Cross my soul I cast, And dare to leave it there.

From Thee I would not hide My sin, because of fear What men may think, I hate my pride, And as I am appear— Just as I am, O Lord, Not what I'm thought to be; Just as I am, a struggling soul, For life and liberty.

HAVE YOU ROOM FOR JESUS? Tunes.-Room for Jesus, 153; Never can tell, 146.

Have you any room for Jesus— He who bore your load of sin? As He knocks and asks admission, Sinner, won't you let Him in?

Room for Jesus, King of Glory! Hasten now, His word obey! Swing your heart's door widely open! Bid Him enter while you may.

Room for pleasure, room for business;

But for Christ the Crucified—
Not a place that He can enter,
In the heart for which He died:

Have you any time for Jesus, As in grace He calls again? Oh, "To-day" is "time accepted," To-morrow you may call in vain.

Room and time now give to Jesus; Soon will pass God's day of grace; Soon your heart be cold and silent, And your Saviour's pleading cease.

Dominion Alliance Representatives Speak at Midland, Ont.

Sunday was Dominion Alliance Field Day, we were visited by two representatives, the Rev. William Kettlewell and the Rev. Dr. Ross. who spoke with force on the temperante question and referred to The Salvation Army as "the largest and best temperance society in the world." Finances were good.

Lieut.-Colonel Hargrave visited us on Oct. 20th, and gave a good address on the Young People's Work. There was a good and ap-preciative audience. Captain Elrick led the meetings on Sunday, Oct. 25th, and at the Young People's morning meeting a little girl sur-rendered, take pait in the fight. From an parts of the world they came, some travelling thousands of miled in order to join in the terrible conflict. But the world was not only taken aback by this eagerness to have a share in the eampaign, but in the haste of officers and men alike to get to the front.

They wanted and only to be in the fight, but in the very thick of it.

Now it seems to me that in their anxiety to take part in that war and to gel right into the heart of it, these soldiers set a striking example to us Salvationists with respect to the conflict in which we are engaged. For many reasons we eught to be possessed of a similar anxiety. Let me ask vou to look at some of them.

Souls are dving-dving in their sins-in your cities and villages, wher-Sous are dyage—dyag in their sins—in your cities and villages, wherever they may be. They are dying and going beyond the reach of hope or merey. Oh! if you have a spark of love for them, you ought to want to get at them, to fight the devis of unbellef and pride, and lust, and indifferent properties. ence, and prograstination, and other evil spirits that possess them.

Think of the mere handful of faithful Sokliers who are fighting at the Tank of the mere annual or taking solders who are againg at the front! What a crowd of Salvationists bide away, keep out of sight, or won't go up to meet the foe. See how many of them lie in bed on a Sunday morning who ought to get up. See how they lounge about the house of a week-night, amusing thrustelves when they might be at the corner of the Birect telling of Christ's love for sinners, or hombarding the public-houses, or blessing the children, or rendering some other service for God.

See others ereep away on a Sunday night to have a gossip in the lobby, or a bit of scandal outside the Hall, or an idle promenade up and down the town among the silly people, or to get to bed earlier for a little more sleep, town among the sny people, or to get to be dearer for a fittle more seep, and so leave the prayer meeting to take care of itself. See them at the meeting, sitting with their arms folded when they ought to be praying, or singing, or believing, or doing something to keep the fire burning and the power of God in the place.

Ohl you ease-loving, careless Soldiers, bear with met I love your sonis and the souls of the perishing around you. I must be faithful with you. How can you find satisfaction in such self-pleasing lives? Come

By The Late General Wm. Booth have not to fine the agerness to have a share in the agerness to have a share in the limen alike to get to the front, at in the very thick of it.

The trong have a share in the agerness to have a share in the interval of the speaking, you are there now. Und up your armour, be afrech. Fall into the march to-morrow night, step loss afrech. Fall into the march to-morrow night, step loss afrech, and invite them to the meeting.

Shoulder some definite responsibility. Begin anew knees for souls. If you have not done so before, now is the start to-day. Resolve—give yourself up to be a soul-winner.

Don't stop fighting, whatever may happen. If you go back! If you fall, rise again! Let nothing, except it be be stop your fighting. Brother, sister, get to the front!

Think what you lose by keeping out of the fight. I the engerness of those soldiers to get into the conflict must have some excitement. Man cannot live by bread above something besides to stif his blood, rouse his bital. from stagnating.

There is no excitement like that which comes from the following of the chairman de amusement, when I was a boy, they had all sorts of fighting in it. There was bird-fighting, buil-fighting, cock-fighing the word has been the fighting they call year; but of all the fight heard about for real and lasting excitement, fighting the control of the control

THE WAR CRY

SEND A CHRISTMAS "CRY" TO THE BOYS ON SALIS-BURY BLATES

For Five Dollars the Publisher Will Send a Hundred Special Kmas "Cere" to the Evneditionary Force at the Front

We have received the following lelter from Captain Ham, of the Citadel Corps, St. John. We think it reflects great credit on his sympathy for the days ones who have left homes to fight for their country:—

"Dear Editor,—I would like to send from our Corps, St. John I., say, one or two hundred Christ-mas "War-Crys" to the Canadian Coutingont at the front

"Could this he done? and what would be the approximate cost of express? Could they be sent di-rect from Toronto cheaper? I should like to know if this sug-gestion is possible."

The suggestion is excellent. With fregard to the rates of expressage, we find that it is not possible to get a cheap rate, for the Postal Department at Ottawa says that-

"Although the Department sym-athizes with the object you have partials with the object you have in view, in sending these to the troops...this Department could not, without special authority from Parliament, meet your wishes in this instance."

in this instance."

The price of "The War Cry" is ten cents per copy, but the Publisher, Major Attwell, has agreed to send one hundred enpies, including postage, and all other expenses, to the troops for five dollars.

Therefore, if any Corps, or person, desires to act on the suggestion of Captain Ham, all that is necessary is to send five dollars and the name is to send her dollars and the name of the regiment to which the donor would like the hundred Canadian Christmas "War Crys" sent, The Publisher will do the rest.

This will be a delightful message from home, and may be as good seed east into good ground. Prompt acfrom will be necessary to get the "Crys" on Salisbury Plains by Christmas.

SALVATION ARMY CORPS BEHIND THE BARS.

Striking Results in Two American Prisons.

In two prisons—that at San Quentin, Cal., and that at Boise, Ida. — fully organized Salvation Army Corps have been established; the former twenty-one years ago. The Soldiers are chiefly long-sentence men, who have given indisputable evidence that they have been converted. From among these men in San Quentin a Salvation Army Brass Band has been formed. The Soldiers behind the bars hold pre-cisely the same relation to The Salvation Army as do their comrades without the walls, and will be re-ceived into any Corps with which they may elect to ally themselves upon their release. This breaking down of undefinable, but usuallyinsuperable, barriers mean much to the released men.

WAR CRY DRINTED for The Salvation Army in Canada, Newfoundland, Bermuda, and Alaska, by The Salvation Army Printing

House, 18 Albert Street, Toronto. An Enlightened Government

So far as practical sociology is concerned, it seems to us that the Province of Manitoba is more enlightened and humane than any other Province in the Dominion. At any sate, Salvationists may be pardoned for so thinking, as no Provincial Government or Municipal Councit bas availed itself to such an extent in dealing with the seamy side of society as the Government of Manitoba and the Council of the inapital city, Winnipeg.

The humane and sensible methods adopted in Manitoba of dealing with Juvenile delinquents and female law breakers constitute a fine example. We are not surprised, therefore, to find that this Province has set the others an excellent example in liquor limitations, for, on the first of December, the announcement was made by Sir Rodmond Roblin of a new Provincial policy affecting the sale of liquor

A general Cabinet meeting will be called to pass an Order-in-Council to secure the closing of all places where intoxicating liquor is retailed at seven o'clock p.m.; to prevent the sale of liquor in social clubs after that hour, and to close all wholesale places at six p.m. These measures are expected to be aided by the license-holders agreeging to close at the hour stipulated in the absence of a law to that effect.

"At the next session of the Legisfature a bill will be introduced amending the License Act to permit the Government-in-Council in times of stress or necessity to vary the hours during which liquor may be sold; and to give municipalities the right to regulate by popular vote the number of licenses to be granted, It is stated that these changes will be made immediately.

We observe that one reason given For this changes of policy is the fact that Winnipeg has been made the training ground for a large number of citizen-soldiers, whom it is desirable to protect as far as is possible and practicable from temptation, This is good, and we wonder what the effect upon the non-military mind is with respect to the military limitations placed upon intoxicating drink by most nations with soldiers in the field. If strong drink has such bad physical effects upon men in the trenches and the tented field, it certainty cannot be good for men in workshops and labour yards, Important International Appointments COMMISSIONER AND MRS.

Colonel Kitching to be International Secretary.

It was to be expected that one of the effects of the outbreak of the present sed housilities would be the necessity for changes in several Commands. As is usually the case, one change involves others, and at the present time certain rearrange-ments, both in Territorial Con-tants and a International Head-thands and at International Headmands and at international Head-quarters, have appeared to The Gen-eral to be desirable. While binding up the wounds of a British marine on the field under heavy fire a shell burst near and three fragments struck him. A British officer tells the story, and adds that when a proposal was made that the wounded men whom he was to attend be brought in out of the zone of fire, Dr. Beland refused, and went out into the post of duty and went out into the post of duty and of danger, saying, "I am here to serve." ### EXPECT A HARD WINTER

THE coming winter will be a hard one if the predictions made by a New York paper are correct. It bases its conclusions on observation of natural signs. The larvaes of insects, for instance, are deeper in the earth, field mice and other burrowing animals are nesting deeper, bark on new wood is much thicker, and weeds are thicker where roots will on new wood is much thicker, and weeks are hicker where roots will need protection. All these indicate sever furning. "After the rot latence told we have experienced for years," it combines, "we shall have a mid spell, and great thaws and floods will result."

This might arouse hopes of au-early spring, but the weather pro-phel dashes our house to the ground by declaring that this mild spell is to be followed by another cold snap which will make all growth very hackward. Watch and see how these predictions compare with the actual

"Twenty-five years ago I attended a Salvation Army meeting for the first time. I was an infidel then, and only went to make fun. My conduct was so had that they had to out me out, but not before a little seed of truth had been sown in my heart, A chorus I heard that night stuck to me, and I could not forget the words, This was the chorus, and he sang: 'Grace there is my every debt to

'Grace there is my every debt to pay.'

Continuing, he said: "With what different feelings did I enter this meeting to-night. Through the chorus God has been speaking to me all through the long years, and at last my stillshorn resistance is broken, and have knell at His feet as poultent silmer, and sought His for speaking the continuent of the continue four who came forward that night. The moetings for the day were led by Adjutant and Mrs. Knight, assisted by Knsign and Mrs. Church, Ensign Duncau, and Captain Sparks. In the Holiness meeting a young girl came to the altar.

The afternoon meeting was bright, and fively, with testimonies, music, and song. An instrumental quartette rendered a selection, the Band being away at Bowmanville with Captain Weeks. Adjutant Knight and Mrs. Church each soloed, and a nulmber of the Young People of the Corps sung together, Enlisted in Highland regiment: became regimental sergeant-major. Attended his father's death-bed, then went to the front in the South African war. Was wounded in Magersfon-tein whilst carrying his wounded of-ficer out of action. While in hospital he fell in love with a Scottish rades at Bloemfontein in hearty fashion, he was led into taking too much drunk. While on his way to much drunk, inc encountered his old enemy, Captain Gifford. This officer taunted him with his candition, and specred at "the Cane Town -tion, and sneered at "the Cape Town nurse." Bryce lost his temper, and struck him, for which grave military offence he was court-martialled. At the end of his trial he received a telegram from Nellie Armytage say-ing he must come to her when he could.

CHAPTER XVII.

THE SENTENCE

A Jack Pryce gazed at the words sent to him from Nellie Armytage he realized what they meant to him at that moment. Coming from the court-martial, where he had stood before his accusers for long warm bears. Heart he had stood before his accusers for long. ne had stood before his accusers for long, weary hours, he felt that a great cloud of darkness had over-shadowed his life. Now, as he read and real again these few words which had throbbed from the heart of the woman who loved him, there came to Jack Bryce a glimmer of hope and sunshine until the gloom. From the night when in the madness of drink he had raised his hand against his superior officer, there had lived in Jack's mind the thought had lived in Jack's minu inc ranger that his love-dream was dispetted-that Nellic Armytage would now turn her back against him.

What a feethe conception men have of the wondrous depth of a woman's love, and what changes that love has created in the lives of erring men. 1

In the question of a wrong com-mitted a man judges his fellow with his head, whilst the woman's judg-ment is reasoned from the heart, Men may condemn and turn against the unfortunate one, but the woman the unfortunate one, but the woman still clings to the object of her love in the day of storm.

THE CHRISTMAS -- "WAR CRY," 1914

A Field Officer's Opinion

OF THE CHRISTMAS "WAR CRY"

The following letter is typical of many received:-

My Dear Colonel.-I have just received the first instalment of Christmas "Crys," and though I'm not given to flattery and throwing taffy around, would just like to express our highest appreciation of the same. It is certainly a dandy "Cry," and a treat to the F. O. to have a first-class article to present to the public. It should sell like hot cakes. Had I known really how good this edition was I feel sure I could have placed a much better order. Yours sincerely,
